Two Youths Hospitalized After Spectacular Crash

Two youths were seriously injured, another treated and released fromthe hospital, and a car totally damaged in a one-car mishap on a country road near Webb School Sunday afternoon.

The incident was investigated by Trooper John Mull, who said the car, occupied by five young people, was en route west on the county road when the driver lost control and hit a concrete culvert abutment. The vehicle was literally broken in two by the impact.

Riding in the 1966 vehicle were William S. Hall, 16, 307 South Pleasant Street, Milroy, driver; two of his brothers, Michael 13, and Alan, 15; Darrell Goodpasture, 16, R. R. 4; and Richard Cain, 17, R. R. 4, Cambridge City.

Most seriously injured were Richard Cain and Michael Hall, who were treated at Rush Memorial Hospital and transferred to Community Hospital, Indiana. Cain reportedly sustained multiple fractures of the right leg, scalp lacerations, and deep shock. The Hall boy also reportedly sustained a fractured leg.

Cain and Hall were listed in satisfactory condition at Community Hospital this morning.

Darrell Goodpasture reportedly sustained a dislocated shoulder, and was treated and released at Rush Memorial.

Allen Hall was treated for head lacerations and released at Rush Memorial.

William Hall escaped the accident without injury.

Trooper Mull's report states that the accident was evidently caused when a tie rod on the automobile came loose, and the driver could not control the vehicle. The car swerved off the left side of the county road, skidded 118 feet, hit the concrete abutment, and broke almost in two.

Last Minute Talks Hope To Shorten Coal Walkout

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A nationwide stike by coal miners is set for midnight tonight, but negotiators hope today's last-minute talks will shorten the walkout.

Most mines are closed today anyway for the Veterans Day holiday. Those that were open pay overtime at triple time rates.

Today's bargaining does not delay a strike, which is expected to last at least two weeks. It would take about 10 days for miners to ratify a new contract, even if one were approved in today's bargaining. Miners remain on strike during the vote because of a "no contract, no work" policy.

There was some encouraging developments in Sunday's talks.

"We settled, I think, one of the major areas of the contract," Guy Farmer, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association said. Farmer did not say what dispute was resolved, but he indicated it was a non-economic issue.

Arnold Miller, president of the 120,000 member United Mine Workers of America, said negotiators reached agreement on some issues.

"I think we're moving, I'm hopeful," he said. "We're getting closer. I think it's sort of a compromise on both sides."

"We continued to make progress," Farmer added. "That's the name of the game. I'm encouraged ... we settled a lot of differences. We're not too many days away from the settlement."

When an agreement is finally reached the union will conduct a massive conference in Pittsburgh, Pa., where it will brief representatives from about 800 union locals on terms of the pact.

Union mines account for about 70 per cent of the nation's coal. Coal, in turn, represents 18 per cent of the nation's energy supply and is a basic material for coke, essential to the production of steel. Coal is also the primary fuel for the production of 46 per cent of the nation's electrical energy.

Utility plants have an estimated average coal reserve of under 80 days.

Coal negotiations began Sept. 3 with the union presenting about 200 demands.

Senior miners currently earn $41.25 to $50 a day, but miners have had no cost of living allowance, sickness and accident benefits, severance pay, and have been far behind major industries in pensions, vacation, and holidays.

Among some of the key issues are safety questions, including a demand by miners for the right to abandon their work place without fear of retaliation if they believe their lives are endangered.

Coal management, on the other hand, has been concerned by a long downtrend in productivity, blamed mostly on wildcat strikes and absenteeism. Management negotiators hoped, also, to arrange for seven day mining so that some automatic equipment will not be idled because of the no-Sunday mining rule in the current contract.

2 Fined For Hunting Violation

Two Fayette County men have been arrested by Rush County Conservation Officer Glenn Conner on charges of unlawful use of artificial light from a vehicle on the highway while having firearms in their possession.

Arrested at 11:15 p.m. Sunday in Union Township was Howard L. Snyder, 36, and Clarence Musser, 56, both of R. R. 6, Connersville. They were reportedly using the lights of their vehicle and shining them into the trees, while they were hunting.

Both men were taken to Justice of the Peace William Shanahan's Court, where they pled guilty and were fined $5 and costs, $34 each.

Law Cracks Down On Speeding

The Rush County Sheriff's department report making three speeding arrests and a theft by deception arrest over the weekend.

Shirley A. Williams Barngrover, 19, Homer, was arrested on a J. P. Warrant at 8 p.m. Sunday charging her with theft by deception.

She allegedly issued a bad check to Conroy's Supermarket, 509 West 3rd Street, November 8. She was taken to the county jail where she was released on $250 bond.

Stephen P. Halpen, 21, Metamora, was arrested at 11:55 a.m. Saturday for speeding 70 mph in a 55 zone. He was stopped ½ mile south of Mays intersection highway 3.

Mary Ann Jackson, 52, Laurel, was ticketed at 12:15 p.m. Saturday for speeding 75 mph in a 55 zone approximately 1½ mile south of Mays intersection of Highway 3.

Cited at 5:45 p.m. Saturday for speeding in Glenwood was Briant J. Pennington, 18, Connersville.

All three will appear in J. P. Court.

State Police

Indiana State Police Trooper Bob Cooley reports making two arrests Saturday morning.

Phillip B. Barnard, 17, R. R. 6, was arrested one mile north of Sexton on Highway 3 for speeding 75 mph in a 55 zone. He was stopped at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

John H. Landers, 51, New Castle, wasticketed at 11:10 p.m. Saturday for improper passing approximately 7½ miles north of Rushville on Highway 3.

Both were cited for appearance into J. P. Court.

Another Arson Fire Suspected In Milroy Area

The Anderson Township Volunteer Fire Department had another busy Sunday.

The first alarm was phoned in at 1:25 p.m. This was another barn fire on the Lucille Jackman farm, back of the Dr. C. W. Worth residence inMilroy.

Old magazines had been stuffed into beams of the barn, then set on fire. Fortunately the paper was wet and smoldered overnight and caused no damage. Several individuals were seen in the vicinity of the barn prior to the fire. Arson investigators of the Anderson Twp. and Rush County Fire Association are investigating.

The second fire was at the home of Ed Brown on Church Street, in Milroy. This alarm was called in at 9:07 p.m. The kitchen stove was on fire, and a chemical extinguisher was used. Two trucks and 20 men answered these calls.

Township officials warn that arson is not funny, and all efforts of the township and sheriff's office will be used to apprehend the violators. The township will prosecute anyone proven to be involved in these arson fires to the fullest extent, it was stated.

Driller Brings In A Big One

History was made south of Rushville Saturday. After 60 attempts and failures, a good well has finally been drilled in the Willis Field south of Rushville for the city of Rushville. Dallas Overleese, the well driller, said the preliminary tests indicate the well can produce 350 gallons per minute, and it is hoped that the purging and developing process, which is pictured above, can bring it up to 1,000 gallons per minute, which will make it the heaviest producer of all the city's wells. There are two other wells in the field, and this one is located at the edge of a wooded area. The depth is 52 feet, and size of the casing is ten inches. The purging and developing process, most important of the drilling procedures, will take approximately 70 man hours, Overleese said. Present at the well site Saturday morning when the picture was taken were Overleese, Bill Paugh, well driller, Jack Payne, City Utilities board member, and Ray Suttle, superintendent. There was too much water flying around to get them in the picture. The new well is a tremendous boost to water reserves here. The city normally uses 350 gallons per minute. This new well assures an adequate supply for any need. It will be added to the other wells in the system, using city utilities employes for most of the work.

Ford Praises Kissinger On Mid-East Diplomacy

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, overflowing with praise for Henry A. Kissinger, got his first briefing on the Secretary of State's diplomatic trip in which he may have reached a breakthrough on limiting nuclear weapons.

"Let me just thank you very much, Henry, for a great job for us as Americans and for me personally," said Ford, standing before his helicopter in the autumn night. "Thank you very, very much."

Ford personally welcomed Kissinger to his Camp David, Md. retreat Sunday afternoon and got a three-hour briefing. Another meeting with Kissinger led today's list of staff meetings.

Reporters were called to the White House Sunday night for an announcement as soon as Ford's helicopter returned. Kissinger, the President said, "reviewed the 17 countries on a backbreaking 17-day trip and I can say on the basis of his analysis that it was basically encouraging.

"The meeting with (Soviet leader Leonid I.) Brezhnev was very helpful; from the various capitals that the secretary stopped in the Middle East, I think he also brought back some encouraging news. The trips that he made to the Subcontinent were very helpful in redirecting our policies in that vitally important area of the world."

Ford said he was looking forward to meeting Brezhnev for the first time in Vladivostok, where aides to Kissinger said the two leaders are expected to discuss ways toward a Soviet-American approach to long-term arms control, although it was unclear whether an agreement would be announced.

Officials said Kissinger gave the Russians a number of specific ideas during his Moscow visit. They described the response as thoughtful and fairly detailed, containing a number of elements acceptable to the United States.

Kissinger wants a 10-year arms control agreement with the Russians by 1975, limiting offensive nuclear weapons not in the 1972 interim strategic arms accord. It would seek to limit multiple nuclear warheads, restrain the arms race and hold down the size of strategic bomber fleets.

Kissinger told reporters he was "reasonably happy" with his journey. Among the achievements:

Organizers Fear Food Conference To Be Failing

ROME (UPI) — Organizers of the World Food Conference expressed concern today that the 130-nation meeting may fail to adopt concrete measures to head off mass starvation.

Most nations have used the rostrum to defend their own national policies and point accusing fingers at political enemies since the talks began Nov. 5 with a speech by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

"We are getting nowhere fast," one conference official said. "Unless there is a dramatic about-face in the last days, there will be no decisions made and the conference will fail."

Political bickering has marred the conference from the opening day, when developed and developing countries clashed on the composition of committees, losing a full day in wrangling.

GARY, Ind. (UPI) — A private, twin-engine plane, taxiing down the runway at Gary Municipal Airport, struck and killed Roosevelt Colquitt, 68, Sunday, authorities said. A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration at South Bend, Ind., said the plane was about to lift off for a flight to Waukegan, Ill., when the pilot, Charles Davis, 42, saw something out of the corner of his eye and felt a bump off the plane's right wing. Davis, of Wadsworth, Ill., circled the airport, saw the body and called police, the spokesman said. Colquitt was pronounced dead at a local hospital. Officials Urge Strong Program

DETROIT (UPI) — Auto industry layoffs soared past the 84,000 mark today with the layoffs of 22,525 Chrysler workers. The United Auto Workers union has urged a strong government program to stave off a near-disaster economic situation.

"The auto industry is not in a recession," UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone said at a weekend news conference. "It's in a depression."

Of the 84,000 workers idled, 62,000 have been laid off indefinitely.

Bluestone said the layoff situation is "bordering on disaster."

About 40,000 workers at General Motors Corp. plants are already on indefinite layoffs with 8,400 idled at Ford Motor Co. and 17,800 at Chrysler Corp.

Bluestone, director of the union's GM department, attacked the Ford administration's economic efforts as "weak and inadequate."

He said top Ford administration leaders are "coming very close" to encouraging further layoffs.

"To try to stem inflation at the expense of people out of work is an intolerable situation," Bluestone said.

The UAW official urged stricter governmental regulation of the oil industry to bring about lower prices and called for increased energy research to make the nation less reliant on oil as a fuel.

"If the oil industry continues to gouge the public," he said, "then we will call for nationalization of the industry."

Bluestone said the UAW was considering a conference with new congressmen in January to focus on the unemployment crisis.

Nixon Enters Recovery Period

Anticoagulant Treatments Resume

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A new medical bulletin was to be issued today on Richard Nixon's gradually improving condition, which prompted doctors to schedule the former president to resume anticoagulant treatment this weekend.

The last medical bulletin, issued Friday, said Nixon had been taken off the "sub-intensive care" list and was now in "an in-hospital recovery period" following the successful treatment for a touch of pneumonia.

Nixon's condition had been critical since he suffered cardio vascular shock after undergoing surgery for phlebitis 14 days ago.

Several days later, he also suffered partial collapse of the right lung tissue and a touch of pneumonia. Dr. John Lungren, Nixon's personal physician, said both conditions responded satisfactorily to treatment, which included inhalation therapy and antibiotics.

The improvement in Nixon's condition could influence his part in the Watergate cover-up trial in Washington.

Watergate Judge John J. Sirica said he would send a court appointed medical panel to Long Beach to determine if Nixon was able to testify before the trial.

Nixon had been subpoenaed by both the prosecution and the defense, but Dr. Lungren and consulting physicians said the former president's condition would not permit even written testimony to be taken.

Dr. Lungren said previously that there was no need to question his prognosis and recommendation that Nixon not be called to testify for several months.

There was no word on when the former president might be released from the hospital. He entered Long Beach Memorial Hospital for the second time Oct. 23 for treatment of a painful phelbitis condition.

He underwent surgery six days later for placement of a clip on the vein in his left thigh to prevent a blood clot there from traveling to the heart or lung, which could cause death.

Shortly after the surgery, Nixon lapsed into vascular shock, and doctors feared for his life.

His wife, Pat, and daughters Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox have been constant visitors at Nixon's bedside. His most recent visitor was Imelda Marcos, wife of Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos.

Mrs. Marcos visited with the former president for about 10 minutes Friday, and told him he would be remembered as a courageous president who opened the door to peace with China.

"He looked very weak," she said later to reporters. "I couldn't stay that long because I could see that he was physically tired."

President Ford also visited with Nixon for about eight minutes two weeks ago. Nixon has also been seen briefly by his closest friends, Bebe Rebozo and Robert Abplanalp. Other than his family, former press secretary Ronald Ziegler is Nixon's most frequent visitor.

Nixon spoke with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger Thursday, who called him from Israel to wish him a speedy recovery.

"Gemstone" Increases Importance Of Role

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Watergate prosecution force says H.R. Haldeman, casually said "Gemstone, yeah," six days after the Watergate break-in as he talked with the President, Richard M. Nixon.

Lawyers for Haldeman argued in U.S. District Court, the word was "convention" or "dovestone," but at the very least, transcripts prepared by the prosecutors should be changed to read "unintelligible."

They say if the transcripts are left with the word "Gemstone," the jury that must try Haldeman and four other Nixon aides for the Watergate cover-up would get the impression that Nixon's former chief of staff knew of the bugging plot. They say Haldeman had never heard the word "Gemstone" at the time.

Alexander M. Butterfield, the man who first revealed the existence of those tapes, was recalled to the stand last week. He listened intently to that tape several times.

"I must say I didn't hear it that way," said Butterfield as the defense lawyers beamed. "It does sound as though Haldeman says 'yeah, that's right, yeah,' not 'Gemstone, yeah.'

EPA Launches Study Of Nation's Drinking Water Supply, Cancer

By MICHAEL J. CONLON
United Press International

Concerned by reports that drinking Mississippi River water may cause cancer, the Environmental Protection Agency is launching a study of the nation's drinking water supplies.

The EPA recently completed, but has not yet announced, a new analysis of the possibility of a link between cancer and the city drinking water drawn from the Mississippi in New Orleans.

The Environmental Defense Fund, a private group, reported Thursday there is a "significant relationship" between cancer deaths in the city and the public water supply.

Its report was based on data from a 1972 EPA study in New Orleans which up to now has got little national attention.

The private group said the two-year-old figures raise "serious questions about the safety of drinking water nationally."

"From recent studies on the Kanawha River in West Virginia; the drinking water supplies of Evansville, Ind.; Washington, D.C.; Cincinnati, Ohio; and of eight unnamed Nebraska communities, it is evident that the presence of cancer-causing substances in water is ubiquitous," the EDF report said.

"These substances escape water treatment processes because these processes were designed in the latter 19th and early 20th centuries and have not been updated to keep pace with the rising levels of hazardous chemicals in water."

The group said a million people in New Orleans may be exposed to the problem, and there would be 50 fewer cancer deaths a year among white males there if the cancer causing agents were removed from the water.

The EPA now does not have the technology to do this and lacks authority to regulate some chemicals entering rivers. A safe drinking water bill has been passed by the Senate, but its future in the House is doubtful.

The fund said some cancer-causing agents get into the water directly through industrial pollution but others are formed in the water when these pollutants are treated with chlorine, which is added to most municipal drinking water.

One cancer-causing substance formed in this way, it said, is chloroform.

The subject is getting new attention partly because Dr. Robert Harris, director of the fund, wrote a series of magazine articles several months ago about the 1972 EPA material. That prompted the EPA to undertake its new analysis in New Orleans and its nationwide study.

New Orleans itself did not appear alarmed. Stuart H. Brehm Jr., director of the New Orleans Sewage and Water Board, said he could not comment on the fund's latest report because he hadn't seen it.

Brehm had disputed earlier Harris material, which he said restated two-year-old information and did not prove the city's drinking water contained enough cancer-causing agents to be harmful.

The new Harris report also stopped short of claiming proof.

"What has been demonstrated is that it is no longer feasible to take for granted the safety of our nation's drinking water," its report said.

Tom Pittari Jr., owner of Pettari's Restaurant in New Orleans said: "Yes, we serve city water and we're not worried. You hear so many reports these days —we haven't paid any attention to it. Some of my employees mentioned it tonight, but they are not particularly concerned."

CHARLES'S CODE

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles says he has no intention of wearing longish hair, or trying to court popularity by dropping by the Playboy Club. He says the Royal Family has a part to play in upholding human values and standards.

"Images are dangerous things to cultivate because most people can see through any artificial character," the prince told a Society of Magazine editors Friday.

"The basic method of Royal Family communications must still be their example and initiative; their sympathetic concern and desire to see human values and standards upheld in the face of all else," he said.

New Jersey gave 18-year-olds the right to vote on Jan. 1, 1973.

Committee Would Close 3 Mental Hospitals

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — An independent study authorized by the legislature recommended today the closing of up to five state mental health facilities and adopting a plan bringing care close to home communities.

Sen. John M. Mutz, R-Indianapolis, released a preliminary draft of a major study conducted by Arthur D. Little, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., and announced six hearings will be held Nov. 19 through Nov. 21 throughout the state to get responses to the findings.

Mutz said the report is the result of action by the 1974 Legislature which directed an independent study be made to guide the 1975 Legislature and future sessions in the area of mental health care.

The decentralized plan proposes up to three of Indiana's state mental hospitals be closed, and that the remaining hospitals be upgraded into first - class mental health care.

"We recommend immediate planning toward closing of up to three of the general state mental illness hospitals," the recommendations said. "General location and better condition of the buildings suggests a plan to retain Evansville, Central State and Norman Beatty Hospitals. Actual closing of the doors should most probably start at Richmond in about 1979 with Madison and Logansport closing at about two-year intervals there-after."

However, the study said even that recommendation may need to be altered in light of future developments. "For example, the cost and scarcity of manpower in northwest Indiana might make it more practicable to keep Logansport in operation and to close Beatty," the fact-finders said. "Obviously, it will be necessary to make community services available locally in advance of hospital closings and this will require some re-ordering of priorities in establishing comprehensive centers."

In addition to suggesting the closing of general mental hospitals at Richmond, Madison and Logansport, the study said the Evansville Psychiatric Children's Center "should be closed as soon as is compatible with providing a high quality children's program elsewhere. We suggest utlimately using Larue D. Carter Hospital (Indianapolis) for this purpose."

Also the study said New Castle State Hospital which specializes in epilepsy and other neurogenic disorders, "may ultimately be closed and its residential functions transferred to Central State in order to bring its own research activities closer to the research capabilities of the Indiana University Medical Center but not for the present."

MRS. ALLENDE'S PLEA

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hortensia Allende, widow of ousted Chilean President Salvador Allende, has appealed to the American people and press to help "restore human rights to Chileans."

She said that with "the support of the people of the United States, and especially the press," the protest of those resisting the junta in Chile could be taken to the U.S. Congress.

"There is no doubt that even now the junta is in power only because of U.S. intervention through the CIA," Mrs. Allende said.

CANADA'S INITIATIVE

Canada is to be commended for its pledge at the World Food Conference to boost its food aid to hungry nations by 20 per cent in the next three years. Hopefully, this initiative will meet vigorous response from other nations as well.

For a key concern in Rome now focuses on the emergency aid needed to avert widespread starvation in the months ahead. On this score the United States is under mounting criticism for not stating precisely what it will contribute to a food aid program.

We choose to think that the U. S., which has for many long years generously led the way in feeding the world's poor, will continue to extend the biggest humanitarian hand possible. But there seems to be merit in the argument of an American delegate to the conference that if Washington announced a specific tonnage figure pandemonium would break out in the Chicago grain pits. "Prices would rise," he said, "the money we could spend would buy less, and the developing countries that must import their food would have to pay more. It would just be counterproductive."

At the same time we regret that Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz seems to be creating an impression of American indifference. His stress is on "trade, not aid." Yet, as the Monitor reported from Rome, if all those nations that can afford to pay for food imports continue to boost them, there will not be enough left over for the poorer nations, who already import as much grain as they can afford.

So what about eating less in the affluent nations?

This idea appears to be gaining emphasis in Rome. Such critics of American food policy as British social scientist Barbara Ward argue that the money saved from eating less could be spent to buy the grain to ship to hungry nations.

A gradual shift in Western eating habits over the long run may well become imperative. But a short-run change poses complications. American cattle raisers already are angered that they cannot make a living at current prices and have been slaughtering their livestock. A further decline in meat consumption would exacerbate the problem.

Further, whether the savings made by eating less can be translated quickly into food aid is problematic.

Nevertheless it is noteworthy that Americans are growing more and more conscious of the world's dire needs and are looking for ways to be helpful. We are not certain that the "meal-less" day being urged by students at Yale is the way to go about things. But any program and effort that seeks to reduce prodigal consumption of food should be encouraged.

The Rome conference can only dramatize the problem and, hopefully, spur nations to responsible action. But it is too large an assembly to come to grips with solutions. The hard work of forging long-term programs to boost food production, set up a world food bank and spur research must go on within a smaller body, such as proposed by Dr. Kissinger.

Meanwhile, may all those nations that have food surpluses emulat Canada's concern and rally to meet the challenge of imminent widespread hunger.

The HOOSIER DAY

By Donald White

The mystic eleventh hour on theeleventh day of the eleventh month returned to historical significance, observes as Veterans Day in all but 8 states this year.

A bill to restore the day from the nationally mandated fourth Monday in October passed the United State Senate by a vote of 50 to 4. It awaits action of the House after the election recess to reverse action taken by Congress over five years ago as a part of the Monday Holiday Law. Indiana returned the observance to November 11 in 1972 after first adopting the 1968 Monday holiday schedule.

Most allied countries pause to commemorate the signing of the Armistice to mark the conclusion of "The War to End All Wars." It was declared a legal holiday in the United States by Congress in 1938, although most states held observance every year since 1919. In 1954, Congress changed the name from Armistice Day to Veterans Day honoring all who served our country.

Federal Offices closed on October 28 this year, as they have since the Monday Holiday law, but state offices remained open. State offices will close November 11, while federal offices remain open. Indiana has had little problems in the last two years, with the November day falling on a non-working weekend. In 1972, State offices closed on both days, with the October Monday considered a vacation day in recognition of faithful service rather than an official holiday.

An organization of families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, has called for a "display of concern" at 11 A.M. this November 11. A demonstration will form in Washington, D. C., at the Justice Department and proceed to the White House to evidence concern of all Americans.

The League has called for "Justice due those who served before amnesty for those who refused to serve." Even while they are demonstrating concern, the Defense Department is moving ahead with plans to make final disposition of the cases of those still missing. They are in the process of reclassifying many listed as missing in action or prisoners to a "presumptive finding of death" status.

Such a finding would relieve the Military of responsibility for the men, permitting cut-off of pay allowances and benefits paid to dependents. It would save an estimated $2 million per month to "write off" those missing.

Such action does not follow the spirit expressed in President Gerald Ford's 1974 Proclamation. He said: "From Valley Forge to Vietnam, on battlefields around the globe, Americans have selflessly answered the call to arms whenever our freedom and the freedoms of others have been threatened by tyranny and aggression. Our Veterans have earned our deep and lasting gratitude for their valor, their patriotism, and their willingness to sacrifice so that others might remain free."

Mistaken priorities led to the Indiana Council of Churches and the Indiana Civil Liberties Union extending special efforts counseling draft evaders and deserters. The ICLU fought for government paid space to provide legal counseling against the government and its laws. The Church group hired a special staff, installed a telephone line, and provides counseling for those who fled. Neither organization has evidenced any concern to provide needed counseling for the returning veterans and their specialized readjustment problems.

Indiana ranks eleventh in the total number of veterans in any state, including 51 of the nation's 1,503 Spanish American War veterans, now averaging 94.1 years of age. Largest group is the 327,000 who served in World War II, followed by 166,000 Vietnam veterans, 117,000 from the Korean conflict and 27,000 remaining World War I veterans.

Even before the start, controversy faces the General Assembly over a request for some $25,000 to rewire the state-owned building leased to the Indiana Legion. The $1 per year lease calls for the Legion to maintain the inside, and the state the outside of the two buildings occupied by the Legion. Wiring is interior responsibility.

Brought into focus is the age-old controversy of the state's lease of a $3.5 million building to National headquarters at a time when the state faces a space shortage and a building program. Construction of the Legion building, completed in 1950, had solid support of all newspapers in the state to assure retention of the headquarters.

While the Legion has not lived up to the spirit of the agreement, moving important sections to Washington piecemeal, the state should continue the lease and their part of the "gentlemen's agreement."

S.A.G VICTORS

HOLIYWOOD (UPI) — Among the winners of an election for three-year terms on the national board of directors of the Screen Actors Guild, announced Thursday, were Carroll O'Connor, Lorne Greene, Robert Vaughn and Jessica Walter.

St. Francisville, built on the crest of a ridge near the Mississippi River, has been called the town "two miles long and two yards wide" because of its original geologic setting, according to the Louisiana Tourist Commission. John James Audubon lived, taught and painted many of his "Birds of America" in the immediate area.

Spiritual Pathways—

By Rev. James Tharp

Mark Twain studied the post-Civil War era in America — a time of wealth, a period of expansion, the day of Jay Goulds and Jim Fisks, and a night of government scandals — and came up with a name for it. "It wasn't real gold," he said, "it was the Gilded Age."

What will historians call ours?

Since World War II we have had so many opportunities to turn the lights on in the world. And no one can deny that we have lit a few candles. There was the Marshall Plan. Then came foreign aid. Our own country saw sweeping social changes. Living standards went up all over the country. If a couple couldn't get out of debt they could at least get out of their shack into a modern home. Science advanced on the frontiers of outer space. We finally reached that moment of glory when the human race actually landed one of its won on the moon.

What an age it might have been! We might have had the courage to wage a military victory against the Communists in Southeast Asia. We might have had the self-discipline to save our resources and spare our environment and take care of our bodies. We might have had the principles and morals that would have kept our young with us. We might have reformed our tax system to bill the rich for all the services they received from so generous a country. We might have experienced the greatest moral and spiritual awakening n the history of our country.

The age has not been gold; it has been gilded. It might have been sterling; it turned out to be tarnished. We forgot God. We sinned, and covered it up.

But the Bible says, "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive our sins."

A wire that hooked over the radiator cap prevented John Nelson's automobile from turning over when it skidded on the pavement in West Third Street yesterday evening about five o'clock when he and his family were on their way to their home, six miles southwest of Arlington, following a visit Sunday with his brother, living on the Lawrence Root farm a short distance south of the city. When Mr. Nelson started to turn the corner, the machine turned completely around, heading in the opposite direction from that he was going, and dashed into a wire fence. It happened that a heavy wire caught over the radiator cap. Mr. Nelson says that was the only thing that kept the machine from turning completely over. The left headlight was smashed and part of the steering gear twisted.

Pistol's Last Second Shot Provides Win

By United Press International

It was a weekend of upsets all around. Michigan State toppled Ohio State, the New England Patriots and Buffalo Bills were both downed by previously struggling teams and the New Orleans Jazz won their first game in the National Basketball Association after 11 losses.

Before the season started, most of the coaches in the NBA agreed that the expansion New Orleans Jazz wouldn't be as bad as the Cleveland Cavaliers were when they broke into the league four years ago.

And they were right.

The Jazz, perhaps remembering that it was also on Nov. 10 that the Cavs gained their maiden victory in the NBA, surprised Bill Walton and the Portland Trail Blazers Sunday by breaking their 11-game losing skein with a 102-101 triumph. Cleveland still owns the record for the most frustrating introduction to the league when it started its first season by losing 15 straight in 1970.

Pete Maravich provided the winning points for New Orleans with a 20-foot jump shot with only two seconds remaining as the Jazz capped a comeback from 21 points down late in the third period.

"We had too much freelance in the first half," said Jazz coach Scotty Roberton, "that's why we got so far behind. Then we ran our break and that helped us come from behind. Mel Counts made a few plays that sparked us and Pete took it from there. Pete was very much guarded on that last shot. We've had a lot of bad breaks, a lot of injuries, but I think we proved ourselves tonight."

"Pistol" Pete finished with 30 points, 12 assists, four steals and 11 rebounds. Walton scored 25 points and had 16 rebounds for Portland but couldn't get a desperation shot off at the buzzer after the Blazers called time out following Maravich's shot. In other NBA games Sunday, Buffalo beat Detroit 124-117, Seattle downed Philadelphia 109-95, Boston trimmed Kansas City-Omaha 102-99, Atlanta beat Milwaukee 99-94 and Golden State edged Los Angeles 106-103.

In American Basketball Association action, Indiana defeated St. Louis 117-109, Denver trounced San Diego 125-101 and Memphis nipped San Antonio 91-89.

Braves 124 Pistons 117

Jim McMillian scored all 10 of his second half points in the last four minutes to lead Buffalo past Detroit despite a 45-point performance from the Piston's Bob Lanier.

SuperSonics 109 76ers 95

Seattle used a well-balanced attack from their starting five, all of whom scored in double figures, to easily beat Philadelphia. Spencer Haywood led the SuperSonics with 27 points. Billy Cunningham was high for the 76ers with 24 points.

Celtics 102 Kings 99

John Havlicek, who finished with 26 points, scored the winning goal with 20 seconds left for Boston as the Celtics spoiled Kansas City-Omaha's debut in their new Kemper Arena. Havlicek then clinched the victory with two free throws.

Hawks 99 Bucks 94

Tom Van Arsdale celebrated his trade from Philadelphia to Atlanta Friday by scoring 23 points for the Hawks to hand the Milwaukee Bucks their eighth straight loss—a club record. Jim Price, traded to Milwaukee from Los Angeles for Lucius Allen Saturday, scored 22 points for the Bucks, still struggling without injured Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

Warriors 106 Lakers 103

A basket by Butch Beard with one minute remaining and a free throw by rookie Keith Wilkes with 13 seconds left, gave Golden State its narrow win over Los Angeles after trailing the Lakers by as many as 13 points in the third quarter. Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, tallied 23 points, nine in the last period. Wilkes had 22 points and Beard 19.

Pacers 117 Spirits 109

Darnell Hillman, starting in place of injured scoring leader George McGinnis, scored a career high 25 points for the Indiana Pacers in their win over the Spirits of St. Louis. Rookie Marvin Barnes led the Spirits with 25 points.

Nuggets 125 Q's 101

Denver outscored San Diego 21-2 during a seven-minute stretch in the second quarter to coast to the victory. Mack Calvin paced the Nuggets with 21 points while Travis Grant led San Diego with 31. Denver's Ralph Simpson had 12 points before leaving early in the third quarter for x-rays on a sprained finger on his right hand.

Sounds 91 Spurs 89 (OT)

Mel Daniels hit a tip-in with one second remaining in overtime to push Memphis to a slim win over San Antonio.

Tunovers Tell The Tale In Indiana And Purdue Losses

By KURT FREUDENTHAL

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Eleven turnovers between them told the story and added up to a gloomy weekend for the Purdue and Indiana football teams.

Both absorbed a bitter lesson —you don't dig out of a deep hole in Big Ten competition—hardly ever, anyway.

Purdue committed six turnovers in its 24-20 loss to Minnesota Saturday and Indiana five—enough to let Northwestern escape with a 24-22 verdict.

Notre Dame's fifth-ranked Irish took the weekend off.

Minnesota, which in eight previous trips to West Lafayette went home the loser, turned Purdue's first three fumbles into touchdowns for a 21-0 lead before the Boilers closed to 21-14 at the half.

The Gophers added a fourth-period field goal after Ollie Bakken made his second interception of a Mark Vitali pass and Vitali tossed his second touchdown pass, to Barry Santini, with less than a minute left to play as Purdue narrowed the margin to four points.

"We gave them a lot of turnovers which they turned into scores," lamented Purdue Coach Alex Agase. Still, he lauded Purdue's second-half defensive effort that held the Gophers to the one field goal.

It was virtually the same story for the Hoosiers, who coughed up the ball three times on fumbles by star halfback Courtney Snyder and also had two passes picked off.

Indiana was down 24-0 midway through the third period before catching fire for "one of the greatest comebacks ever seen," said Coach Lee Corso.

Snyder, who went over 100 yards rushing for the fifth time in six conference games, scored Indiana's first touchdown; Terry Jones got the second and Jones passed to Trent Smock for the third in the Hoosier rally.

Indiana was threatening again when time ran out.

"Maybe we wanted to win too much and tried too hard," said Corso. "The law of averages caught up with some of our young kids... those mistakes are bound to happen."

Although the loss left Indiana in sole possession of last place in the Big Ten, Corso indicated his faith in the Hoosiers was unshaken.

"We believe in one another and I believe in them, no matter what," he said. "I told them at the half we'd get things together and kick a field goal to win."

His prophecy came mighty close. Indiana reached the Wildcat 43 and had no timeouts left when time expired before Frank Stavroff had a chance to try a field goal that would have turned defeat into victory.

Race For Number One Thrown Wide Open As Ohio State Loses

By United Press International

Michigan State's stunning victory over Ohio State has thrown the race for college football's national championship wide open and added another historic upset to the game's history.

The former adds zest to the current campaign and sets up showdown situations for Nov. 23 and Nov. 29 which should decide a national champion outright.

The latter provides the kind of fuel which will give college football fans a debatable issue for years. Little kids in East Lansing, Mich., and Columbus, Ohio, will be spoon-fed on the events that transpired in the final hectic seconds of Saturday's 16-13 upset by the three-touchdown underdog Spartans of Michigan State.

Michigan State's victory means: (1) undefeated Michigan and Alabama, tied for the No. 2 national ranking a week ago, become the favorites for the national championship; (2) the Michigan-Ohio State and Auburn-Alabama games become even more important than they originally were; and (3) the Orange Bowl contest between Alabama and Notre Dame shapes up as the most attractive of the post-season contests.

Ohio State wasn't alone in its disappointment Saturday as four other teams ranked in the top 10 and three unranked but bowlbound teams were beaten. Southern Methodist defeated fourth-ranked Texas A&M 18-14, North Carolina State beat sixth-ranked Penn State 12-7, Georgia topped seventh-ranked Florida 17-16 and Baylor downed 10th-ranked Texas 34-24.

In addition, Kentucky defeated Peach Bowl-bound Vanderbilt 38-12, Sun Bowl-bound Mississippi State bowed to Auburn 24-20 and Sun Bowl-bound North Carolina was routed by Clemson 54-32.

But the big one of the season—in fact, one of the big ones in college football history —took place at Lansing.

Levi Jackson's 88-yard run from scrimmage and Hans Nielsen's extra point gave Michigan State the 16-13 lead with 3:17 left in the game. But Ohio State stormed back with a 70-yard march to the one. One shot at the goal line failed and the Buckeyes hurriedly lined up as the clock ran out its final seconds. Champ Henson dived into the end zone and one official signalled a touchdown. He quickly withdrew the call, however, when two other officials said time had run out.

Fans streamed onto the field, supporters of both squads thinking their team had won. The dispute wasn't resolved until an hour after the game when Big 10 Commissioner Wayne Duke made the 16-13 final score official.

JEALOUS DOCTOR

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 64-year-old doctor was arrested Friday for operating on his former fiance's engagement ring —with a vise.

Police said Dr. Jack Yonchar was booked on suspicion of robbery following a complaint that when his former girlfriend, Alice Soong, 47, told him she planned to marry someone else, he wrenched off her finger the $7,000 diamond engagement ring he had given her and crushed it in a basement vise.

Nope, Not This Year

BRANDT, Ohio (UPI) — The fans yawned and went home and the Bethel Local High School football team went into hiding.

Burdened with perhaps the worst football team in the country, Bethel ended its 10-game season Friday night without a win and without a point—while letting opponents amass 545 points.

The final humiliating shutout, 50-0, came from DeGraff Riverside, a school which may as well be an understudy for Bethel. Riverside had a 1-9 record going into Friday's game, scoring only 38 points during the season while giving up 194.

Opponents have tried to hold down the runaway scores by playing freshmen and attempting field goals on first downs but somehow Bethel manages to leave the field scoreless.

The rural school in this tiny western Ohio hamlet, which has 450 students, lost its first nine games this season by scores of 40-0, 53-0, 92-0, 89-0, 50-0, 56-0, 36-0, 33-0 and 46-0. A guard at the high school stadium Friday night said it would be a hopeless try to contact the coach or team members.

"They always go into hiding on Friday nights," he said. "No one sticks around to cheer."

Pacers Win At St. Louis, Drop Tilt At San Antonio

By United Press International

The Indiana Pacers split even in a pair of weekend road games—losing at San Antonio, 131-118, and winning at St. Louis, 117-109.

Darnell Hillman scored a career high 25 points Sunday night to pace the victory at St. Louis.

Hillman started at forward in place of star George McGinnis, who suffered a sprained left ankle Saturday night at San Antonio.

The Pacers took the final lead at 73-70 on Hillman's three-point play midway in the third period. Kevin Joyce then scored eight points as the Pacers built a 10-point cushion at 92-82. Rookie Billy Knight had 21 points, Billy Keller 18 and Joyce 17.

The Spirits led by as much as 14 points in the second period and were led by ex-Pacer Freddie Lewis with 26.

Saturday night in Texas, the Spurs weathered a late barrage by Keller, who hit 10 of 11 shots in the final 13 minutes, including a pair of three-point "home runs."

Another former Pacer, Donnie Freeman, converted two three-point plays late in the final period to keep the Spurs on top.

McGinnis led the Pacers with 29 points, Joyce had 27 and Keller 25. George Gervin topped San Antonio with 27 and Freeman had 26

Blues Trade Gardner To Seals

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — The St. Louis Blues Sunday night traded center Dave Gardner and minor leaguer Butch Williams to the California Golden Seals for wings Stan Gilbertson and Craig Patrick.

Gilbertson, 30, has been with the Seals longer than any other player on the California roster. He joined them during the 1971-72 season and last season scored his National Hockey League high of 18 goals.

Patrick, 28, was in his fourth season with the Seals after playing with the U.S. National team and Denver University. Both Patrick and Gilbertson are Americans. Patrick is the son of the Blues' senior vice president, Lynn Patrick.

Gardner, 22, was acquired by the Blues late last season from the Montreal Canadiens for the Blues' top draft choice in 1974. He had seen limited action last season.

Williams, 22, also American, has been with the Blues' Denver farm team this season. He played 31 games with St. Louis last season.

Racers Have Arrived With Three Straight

By United Press International

Could it be that all of a sudden, the Indianapolis Racers have arrived?

After winning only one of their first nine starts, the new expansion entry in the World Hockey Association owns a three-game winning streak.

Saturday night at Houston the Racers scored a 5-4 overtime triumph, getting the last four goals, three in the third period. Then Gary Bredin blasted home the winning goal at 3:50 in overtime.

Twenty-four hours late at Detroit, the Racers broke a 1-1 first-period deadlock with two goals in the middle period and three more in the third for a 6-1 romp—their most convincing victory to date.

Bredin and Bob Fitchner set up each other for the second period goals and the Racers wrapped it up with three more goals in a fight-filled final stanza, one of them Bob Whitlock's seventh of the season.

The twin victories left the Racers with a 4-8 record.

Washington Upsets Top Ranked Richmond Saturday

By United Press International

Unbeaten Indianapolis Washington and Mishawaka, ranked second and third, respectively, today paced the half dozen survivors into the Indiana high school football playoff finals, but for the second year in a row, the No. 1 team faltered.

The Continentals from the Indianapolis west side defeated top-ranked Richmond Saturday night, 21-14, in the "game of the year" at Richmond to qualify against Mishawaka for Friday's Class AAA finale.

Last year, No. 1 Bloomington South fell at the same stage to No. 3 Indianapolis Cathedral, snapping the Panthers' record 60-game winning streak.

In the Class AA finals, Blackford will oppose Boonville and in Class A, it'll be North Knox against Garrett.

Coach Bob Springer's Indianapolis crew, runnerup to Richmond in the UPI coaches' board ratings by two points at the end of the season, took advantage of three fumble recoveries and two pass interceptions en route to its 17th consecutive victory.

Danny Butler fired a 33-yard touchdown pass to Armond White in the second period and sneaked across from the one-yard stripe in the third as the Continentals snapped Richmond's 14-game winning streak.

Kevin Weatherby scored the first Indianapolis touchdown while Vagas Ferguson and speedster Roger Frazier scored for Richmond.

Mishawaka junior fullback Chuck Alexander scored twice and the Cavemen exploded for three second-period touchdowns in the Northern Conference champions' 28-21 victory over Portage. Cortie Wilson fired touchdown passes of 60 and 51 yards to Bill Wood for Portage.

John Kaposta passed for two touchdowns to lead Boonville's Class "B" Soutnern Conference champs to a 21-6 victory over Greenfield, last year's Class AA champions.

Blackford's Central Conference champions, the only 1973 playoff semi-finalist still alive, scored a 21-13 victory over Northwood, Phil Payne scoring one touchdown and passing for another. Todd Sheets scored twice for Northwood.

Kurt Kixmiller scored twice in North Knox's 21-13 win over Westfield while Garrett edged Whiting, 7-0, in the other Class A semi-final on Steve Walton's 24-yard pass, to Roger Ellert in the fourth period.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I just sold my house. I understand that I can reduce the taxable profit from the sale by taking into account additions made to the basis of my property. To what "additions" does this rule apply?

A. The basis or cost of property should be increased by adding to it: the cost of improvements having a life of more than one year, purchase commissions, legal fees, such as the cost of defending and perfecting title (including title insurance) or the cost of obtaining a reduction of an assessment levied against property to pay for local benefits, certain finance charges, interest and taxes you have elected to capitalize and all other capital expenditures. The adjusted basis is subtracted from your sales price to determine the gain on the sale.

For more information, see IRS Publication 523, "Tax Information on Selling Your Home." It's available free from your IRS office.

Q. My uncle died recently. In his will he named me executor of his estate. How much time do I have to file a Federal estate tax return?

A. An estate tax return must be filed whenever the deceased leaves an estate valued at more than $60,000. The deadline for filing is nine months after date of death. For more details, see IRS Publication 448, "A Guide to Federal Estate and Gift Taxation." It's available for 50 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Q. I own my firm. Last month, I gave my office manager a $100 watch in recognition of his 25 years of service to the firm. Is this gift subject to the $25 limitation on deduction of business gifts?

A. No. An item of tangible personal property having a cost to the taxpayer of not more than $100 and which is awarded to an employee in recognition of length of service is not subject to the limitation on business gifts. This means that the entire $100 can be deducted as a business expense.

Q. I'm taking a new job and a big pay cut. Can I use income averaging to reduce the taxes I have paid over the last couple of years?

A. No. Income averaging works only in the reverse of your situation. It is used to reduce taxes on an unusually large amount of income in the present year by averaging the four immediately preceding years of lower income.

DOLLARS & GOOD SENSE

Recent economic conditions have made home buying, if not more difficult, at least more subject to careful examination. Today I'd like to begin a discussion of the subject.

How much of a house can you afford? As housing costs soar, it is difficult to follow some of the traditional guidelines. If you've been shopping for a new house, you know how prices have jumped. It costs about twice as much for a house now as it did some 20 years ago, for example.

One long standing rule of thumb is that you should be able to afford a house costing about two to two and a half times your annual gross income. If you earn $10,000 before taxes, let's say, you should be able to buy a house costing between $20,000 to $25,000.

Another guideline is based on monthly payments. Your monthly cost for mortgage payment and real estate taxes should not exceed one week's gross income.

One big change is down payment. It is taking more and more of a down payment to move into a house that fits the formula.

Next, some tips on home buying.

Readers' questions are welcome and should be sent to P.O. Box 2210, Newport Beach, CA 92663.

China Sends USSR Message Calling For Non-Agression

By BARRY JAMES

MOSCOW (UPI) — China has sent the Soviet Union a conciliatory message calling for a non-aggression pact and the separation of forces along their tense, 4,500-mile frontier.

It was the first public indication that the Chinese might be prepared to talk about a non-aggression pact between the world's two leading Communist powers.

Official Chinese sources said Peking sent the message to the Kremlin Thursday on the 57th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Diplomatic sources said the Chinese hesitated in the past to enter into a non-aggression pact with the Soviets because they feared losing any rights to disputed territory along the border.

The Kremlin, on the other hand, has long opposed a separation of forces agreement, claiming it would concede legitimacy to Chinese land claims.

The Soviet Union wants any territorial solution based on 19th century agreements described by Peking as "unequal treaties."

Sources said the message reaffirms a 1969 agreement between Premiers Alexei N. Kosygin and Chou En-lai for the border disputes to be settled by discussion rather than force.

The sources said Peking, in the new message, said the "the mutual understanding" of the 1969 agreement "should be adhered to" on such issues as nonaggression and separation of forces.

The message said China "frequently has proposed that the two sides should hold talks to achieve relations of friendship and good neighborliness."

The Soviet Union also maintains it has made repeated overtures to China but has been rebuffed by the Peking leadership.

Last weekend, Kosygin said in a speech at Frunze, near the Chinese border, that the Soviet Union wished to make the frontier a place of "peace, good neighborliness and friendship." It was not immediately known whether the Chinese message was in direct reply to Kosygin.

Rush County Bi-Centennial Committee has arranged for reprinting of an old atlas for distribution as soon as possible, and sample copies have been made up and are ready for examination by anyone interested in purchase. In the reproduction above is one of the illustrations found in the atlas, depicting an early farm scene in Rush County.

Sample pages of the reprinting of the J. H. Beers & Co. Rush County Atlas have been placed on exhibit at five order taking points—The Sampler, Homer, and Pike's Office Supplies, the Durbin Hotel, the Rushville Library, and the Rushville Daily Republican. The atlas has been beautifully reproduced in black ink on India book paper and will have an attractively lettered card cover.

A pre-publication price of $9.50 will be in effect until November 30, 1974, after which the price will be $11.50. Copies may be picked up at Pike's Office Supplies, 226 North Main Street, in Rushville after November 30. An additional $1.00 will be charged if copies are to be delivered by mail. Library bound copies will require an additional three to four weeks for delivery and may be obtained for an additional $7.00 above the card cover price.

The Republican has been carrying an order blank for the convenience of its subscribers who wish to purchase copies.

Rush County's Bi-Centennial Committee is inquiring as to the possibilities of arranging a five-day bus tour to Philadelphia with principle emphasis on the Dr. Benjamin Rush points of interest. Mr. Knight representing Miller Tours, took notes on the committee's suggestions and promised to submit details and costs.

Date for the excursion would be the first half of the month of October in 1975. The trip would include one overnight stop at a historic point going to and coming from Philadelphia.

The trip will be jointly sponsored by the committee and the Rush County Historical Societv.

Flagpole Sitter Faces New Challenge To Hold Record

By JACK V. FOX

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — No sooner did Vernon Woodrich get a telephone installed atop the flagpole where he has been perched for more than three weeks than it brought him bad news:

He may have to stay up there a lot longer than planned, or give up his claim to the official flagpole-sitting record.

Woodrich has been living in a pup tent on a 6-by-6-foot platform atop the 30-foot pole since Oct. 15, figuring he would break the record. He thought it was about 115-120 days.

He seemed somewhat stunned when a reporter, taking advantage of the telephone installed Thursday, told Woodrich the Guinness Book of World Records listed the record as eight months and four days, more than twice his estimate.

And he grew downright peevish when told that Guinness notes that in the fifth Century A.D., St. Simeon Stylites spent 33 years and three months on a stone pillar in the Syrian desert.

"That has never been authenticated," Woodrich snapped, obviously in no mood to contemplate matching the monk's asceticism.

He was also doubtful that Guinness' acceptance of the record set by Kenneth Gidge, an actor from Dallas, in a hut atop a 30-foot pole at Peabody, Mass., in 1971.

"I don't count the Texas guy," he said. "His platform was fully glassed. All I have is a pup tent. I'm out in all the weather, and as far as I'm concerned, the record for that sort of thing was 115 days in the '30s."

Why flagpole sitting?

"Shipwreck Kelley has been my hero since he was a flagpole sitter in the 30s," Woodrich said. "But this also gave me a chance to get closer to God."

Also, he said, he wanted to prove he could do something. He never in his life has finished something he started out to do, he said, and this time, he will.

He may run into opposition from both the record books and his wife, Virginia, who was left alone to run their coffee shop, next to Woodrich's pole. The shop has no phone, so she has to use a public booth to ring him for his meal orders.

"I wish he'd come down," Mrs. Woodrich complained Thursday, hoisting him a tuna salad sandwich and a cup of coffee in a pulley-mounted bucket.

"We have two children and I have to do everything, keep the house and run the shop."

Asked about his sex life, Woodrich said, "I'm postponing it."

When Barbara Rawley, a shapely, female installer, appeared atop a truck hoist to put in his telephone Thursday, "He said it was the closest he had been to a girl in almost a month," she said.

St. Simeon had a similar complaint, but he blamed the devil.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The fire department reported Friday that the only victim of a fire in a motel room was a cat overcome by smoke.

Something to Think About

When does afternoon end and evening begin, and when does evening end and night begin?

Strictly speaking, according to modern times, evening is the time of day between sunset and dark, from dark to dawn is called night, however some refer to evening as anywhere from sunset to midnight.

Early significance of the word evening meant the entire time from lunchtime until dark, eliminating afternoon entirely.

Right To Confront Accusers Subject To Appellate Court

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The rights of an accused person to confront his accusers and other constitutional rights cannot be waived prior to acceptance of a plea of guilty, according to the Indiana Court of Appeals.

The ruling came in the case of John Vincent Kite vs. Indiana in Carroll Circuit Court. He entered a plea of guilty to a charge of rape at his arraignment in accordance with a prior agreement worked out by his counsel with the prosecuting attorney. Charges of armed robbery were dropped in the agreement.

"This memorandum was submitted to Kite for his examination and bears his signature," the Court of Appeals opinion states. "Included therein is an explanation of the various constitutional rights which would be waived upon entry of the plea. While it does not, due to the decisions of this court (that such rights must be waived in court) cure or render harmless the trial court's failure to advise, we believe such practice is deserving of compliment and should be encouraged."

After the compliment the state court reversed the conviction and plea of guilty because of the lack of a formal court appearance in which the defendant was advised of his rights and then waived them.

Two More Banks Lower Prime Interest Rates

By United Press International

For the sixth consecutive week, major commercial banks have lowered their prime interest rates. A government report, however, indicates the nation's money supply has declined steadily.

First National City Bank of New York and First National Bank of Chicago Friday lowered their prime rates by one-quarter percentage point to 10½. The action apparently was triggered by a continued decline in the rates of commercial paper, short-term unsecured loans of major corporations.

The developments further cloud the question among economists over whether the major problem of the U.S. economy is recession or inflation.

Increasing the supply of money is a tool used to fight recession, while reducing money for credit is a tool against inflation.

The Federal Reserve Bank has reported a money supply decline of $4.1 billion in the last two weeks, indicating to some that the Reserve Bank had reimposed tough constraints on funds to curb inflation.

At the same time the money flow declined, demand on commercial banks for business loans increased dramatically — $500 million last week in New York.

A decline in the money supply and an increase in loan demand are two elements that often force increases —or at least a leveling of —prime rates, the interest banks charge top corporations for loans.

AMA May Switch Sides On Health Insurance

By CRAIG A. PALMER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Medical Association, faced with the loss of at least 54 congressional supporters, may switch sides and endorse compulsory health insurance.

"We would be foolish not to consider mandated coverage," the association's chief health insurance spokesman said in an interview.

The AMA has supported an alternative "Medicredit" proposal which would provide voluntary coverage in the form of income tax credits for the poor.

But 38 Medicredit supporters in Congress were defeated in Tuesday's elections, five lost out in primaries, eight retired and three left to run for other offices.

That's 54, and two other supporters could be lost if Rep. Peter Kyros, D-Maine, and Sen. Milton R. Young R-N.D., are defeated in elections that are still in doubt. 1

"I still think the tax credit approach is certainly an acceptable way," said Dr. Russell B. Roth, the AMA's last president.

"But we are now persuaded that may not sell, and we would be foolish not to consider mandated coverage."

About 180 congressman had supported Medicredit.

Among those who won't be back next year are Rep. Joel Broyhill, R-Va., the staunchest supporter of the plan on the House Ways and Means Committee,' two other Ways and Means members, and Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo.

Labor spokesmen cheered the election results.

"A majority of the new Congress has pledged to support national health insurance as part of the Social Security system," said United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock.

Woodcock's Committee for National Health Insurance supports compulsory cradle-to-grave insurance coverage for all Americans, financed through the Social Security system.

The Ford administration supports a plan under which employers would have to offer insurance to their workers, who would be free to accept or reject it.

A move by AMA toward either of those plans could break a stalemate in health insurance legislation and even increase chances for passage of a bill during the lame duck session of Congress, which convenes Nov. 18.

Roth said the AMA strategy shift was tentative and still needs approval by the 247-member AMA House of Delegates, which meets in Portland, Ore., Nov. 30-Dec. 3.

But the shift to support for compulsory coverage already has been approved by the AMA's 12-member board of trustees.

From The Living Bible

YOM KIPPUR

"The Day of Atonement follows nine days later: All the people are to come together before the Lord, saddened by their sin; and they shall offer sacrifices by fire to the Lord. Don't do any work that day, for it is a special day for making atonement before the Lord your God. Anyone who does not spend the day in repentance and sorrow for sin shall be excommunicated from his people.

Washington Window

By MICHAEL J. CONLON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The way industry sees it, children have almost a God-given right to be tempted with toys, games and other prizes as part of television commercials selling them everything from cereals to shoes.

The old box top giveaways are educational, it argues, and sometimes even help promote better nutrition.

Such are some of the comments the Federal Trade Commission has been hearing on its proposal to ban premium offers on TV commercials aimed at children. The proposal is still perhaps a month and a half away from emerging in its final form, and FTC Chairman Lewis A. Engman says it is possible a compromise will be worked out short of an outright ban on prize offering.

But the subject is obviously a sore spot with the advertisers and broadcasters.

"A ban on the advertising of premiums would certainly result in the reduction or elimination of educational type premiums," General Mills told the FTC. "Premiums as they relate to children provide entertainment and play value which are important characteristics in the development of any child."

Adds Nabisco:

"Premiums are safe, wholesome, of interest to the child and in many cases have educational value ... Nabisco's advertising for these premiums is honest and always secondary in exposure and emphasis to the advertisement for the carrying product."

Broadcasters, already stung by the government ban on cigarette advertising, believe premium advertisers would do as they did in the tobacco ban—simply switch to other forms of advertising.

"The ultimate irony," CBS said, "is that other media which have not adopted the same special standards for advertising copy as the TV industry will be unaffected by the FTC's guide and will, under the current proposal, be the eager beneficiaries of advertising revenue pulled out of television."

The National Association of Broadcasters said such a ban "can only undermine , and weaken the self-regulatory machinery which has dealt successfully and competently with the matter."

One of the most severe attacks on the idea came from a West Hartford, Conn., group calling itself "Families Against Censored Television." It attacked the "self appointed consumer activists" behind the proposal.

"We have witnessed their temper tantrums in every department of government. Their persecution of commercial broadcasters and business has been a sustained effort to enslave both to their ever increasing demands," they wrote.

"Their effort now extends itself into the privacy of our homes and the most personal of relationships — that between parents and child. They attempt to bludgeon our private values and incarcerate us in ghetto of their irrational whims. They are cannibals of freedom."

The comment files are bulging with those and other similar comments, with a notable lack of response from in-the-street consumers. One who did reply, however, was Mrs. Sharon Y. Nickols, a graduate assistant at the University of Missouri in Columbia who enclosed a research paper on the subject. She added this personal note:

"As a consumer I am aware that I pay the bill for having my children exposed to commercials which emphasize their selfishness, instead of their cooperativeness, their desire for things instead of for happy experiences and relationships, and which undermine my efforts to teach them about good nutrition and health. I do not want to continue to pay that bill."

DAV Mobile Field Service Unit To Be At Connersville

Eighteen Indiana communites will be visited November 22-25, 1974, by the Disabled American Veterans' new fleet of mobile field service untis. The six travelling DAV Service Offices (and a seventh back-up unit) are housed in specially equipped 26-ft. GMC Motor Vans. They are on a year-long Nation-Wide tour of the United States.

There will be a unit at Grandview Shopping Mall, Connersville, November 25.

Purpose of the coast-to-coast campaign is to carry the many free services provided by the DAV to wartime disabled veterans and their dependents how live outside major metropolitan areas. Qualified DAV National Service Officers, most of whom are Vietnam era disabled veterans, will be on board the Field Service Units to assist wartime disables veterans and their families in their claims for benefits to which they are entitled by law.

According to Walter T. Greaney, DAV National Commander, this is the first time that any major veterans organization has taken its services on such a large scale "to veterans in the suburban and rural areas of every state in the Nations."

The DAV employs 260 full-time National Service Officers, with offices at Veterans Administration offices throughout the country.

The location of these VA regional offices often makes it difficult for many disables veterans, as well as their widows and dependents, to make personal contact with a National Service Officer of the DAV.

"We know that many of these people need assistance in matters relating to disability compensation, insurance, education, hospitalization, employment and other benefits provided by the U.S. Government," explains the DAV National Commander, "and our new Field Service Units will take the program right to their doorsteps."

DAV Officials stress that disabled veterans of all wars, as well as their dependents are urged to visit the DAV Field Service Units to discuss any problem they may have. But particular emphasis is being placed on disabled veterans of the Vietnam conflict, because such a large number are not taking advantage of all the benefits which they have coming to them, especially in the areas of educational and vocational rehabilitation.

Cooperating with the National Organization of the Disabled American Veterans are the Department of Indiana DAV and Dav chapters throughout the State.

The Field Service Units will be open for business from 11 a.m., until 8 p.m.

School Head To Speak At Meeting

Robert Hoffman, director of the Connersville Area Vocational School, will speak to the area manpower committee Thursday. Hoffman will describe the operation of the school and its potential in delivery of manpower services.

The committee, chaired by Leo Hamilton, Rushville, is one of 14 in the state operating under the Indiana Office of Manpower Development. Purpose of the group is to consider the problems of unemployment and manpower development. The committee includes residents of Fayette, Franklin, Rush, Union and Wayne counties.

The November 14 session will be at 7:30 p.m. in the board of works room, second floor, Richmond City Building, 5th and Main Streets, Richmond. The public is welcome to attend, according to Hamilton.

The meeting will also include summary presentations of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act grant applications.

State highway departments spend from $4 million in California to $35,000 in Alaska annually to pick up litter thrown alongside roadways.

Carrie Jo Jones Marries Terrence O'Hair

Double-ring wedding vows united Carrie Jo Jones and Terrance Ladd O'Hair in marriage at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, November 9.

Rev. Norval Lyon performed the ceremony in the sanctuary of the St. Paul United Methodist Church. At the altar was a fanned bouquet of white carnations, two white seven-branch candelabra and two beauty vases of blue and white mums and carnations. The family pews were marked with candlewhite satin bows. A white aisle runner led to the altar.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Jones, R. 6, are the parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. E. Carl O'Hair, 318 East 60th Street, Indianapolis, are the groom's parents.

Miss Janet Mauzy, organist, played "A Time For Us," Rota; "Because," D'Hardelot; "Love Story," Lai; "Liebestraum," Liszt; "Intermezzo," Mascagni; "Melody," Dawes; "Ave Marie," Schubert; "Bridal Chorus," Wagner and "Wedding Recessional," Mendelssohn. Miss Mauzy accompanied William F. Moster as he sang "I Love Thee," Grieg and "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte.

The bride fashioned her own wedding gown in an old fashioned style The A-line gown in candlelight color was made of Doveton with Miramist overlay. The long puffed sleeves closed into five button cuffs. Lace accented with 400 seed pearls trimmed the empire waist, neck edge and hem. The detachable train had snowflake accents and lace edging. The full-length chapel illusion veil was attached to a cap made from the dress material and was also accented with lace around the cap and veil edge. Her shoulder-length veil was accented with snowflake lace. She carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis, bristol fairy gypsophila and ivy, with powder blue tie and streamers.

Mrs. Dana DePrez, Shelbyville, was matron of honor. She chose a dress of light blue Tatami crepe, styled with empire waist, fitted bodice, and long puffed sleeves with five-button cuffs. Blue and green flowers on white background trim enhanced the neckline, down and around the bodice and on the top edge of the cuffs. Her jewelry was a single wire bracelet with a small disc engraved with her name. Her nosegay was of white carnations with powder blue pom pons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Rihm, Knightstown and Mrs. Glen Hahn, Terre Haute, Their dresses were of Tatami Crepe in avocado. They were styled the same as the maid of honor. They, too, wore single wire bracelets with engraved discs. They carried nosegays of white carnations with soft green pom pons.

Joe Rodriguez, Indianapolis was best man. The groomsmen were Rick Sutherland, Terre Haute, and Stan Hendricks, Fairfield, Ohio. Serving as ushers were James Seusabaugh and Lee Lamprecht, Indianapolis, and Tom Jones, brother of the bride, Ventura, Calif.

The bride's mother chose a sleeveless empire waist full-length dress with chanel jacket, trimmed in white seed pearls. The groom's mother wore a turquoise blue full-length dress with knife-pleated skirt. The bodice with long sleeves had a lace overlay. Both mothers had corsages of white sweetheart roses with green trim. Mrs. Clara Hatch, Dunkirk, grandmother of the bride, had a white carnation corsage.

The reception followed the ceremony in the Countryside rooms of the Durbin Hotel. The decorations were carried out in the chosen colors of blue and olive green. Topiary trees were arranged throughout the room. On the mantle and the serving tables were arrangements of white mums, carnations, pom pons and blue daisies in blue pots.

The serving tables had white organdy skirts over the blue cloth. Blue satin ribbon with olive green and blue bows trimmed the skirts. The four-tier white cake was decorated with white sugar bells and topped with a white wedding bell. The punch, cake, mints and nuts were served from silver service by Miss Cindy Sue Hatch, Dunkirk and Mrs. Michael Ehmer, Noblesville.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans the bride traveled in a blue polyester silk print wrap A-line dress with tie sash and set-in short sleeves. The bride fashioned and made her dress. She wore a corsage of white sweetheart roses from her bridal bouquet. After November 16 the couple will be at home at 8860 Lake Nora E. SR. D., Indianapolis.

The bride received an A.S. degree from Vincennes University in General Education and a B.S. degree from Indiana State University in Vocational Home Economics. The groom also received an A.S. degree from Vincennes University in Liberal Arts and a B.S. degree from Indiana State University in Business Administration. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.
